With the speechmaking over, the boosters scattered over the city to see friends and business acquaintances. A number toured the points of interest in motor cars. An official party, composed of Mayor Blankenburs, Mayor Ainslie, Herman Loeb, director of purchases for the city of Philadelphia; President T. P. Bryan, of the Business Mansager Dabney, of the Chamber of Commerce, and a reporter for The Times. Dispatch, made a round of the city in an automobile. Mayor Blankenburg and Mr. Loeb returned to Philadelphia at anoon.

Welcomed by Carrington, of the Chamber of Commerce, called the boosters and townsmen to order in the Jefferson Hotel Auditorium and extended the official welcome. He referred to the cordial relations which have always existed between Richmond and Philadelphia and expressed the same of those who have the first of suspects that when the list of suspect friends and business acquaintances have always existed between Richmond and Philadelphia and expressed the hope that the present visit would bring the two cities even closer to gether. The auditorium was well filled, and the boosters greeted Mr. Carrington's words of welcome with applause.

"I take great pleasure in extending to you a cordial welcome to Richton and Philadelphia and the serven as hearing before with applause.

Animal Which Threw Occupants From Buggy May Have Fallen Into the Dock.

Mystery last night surrounded the impressance of a runsway horse disappearance of a runaway horse which had been drawing a buggy. Whether it ended its mad run by tumbling into the dock at the foot of Twenty-first Street was a question, but at any rate the buggy's seat was found floating upon the water's surface by Patrolman Mitchell. He was not inclined to the supposition, however, that the animal had dashed headlong into the dock.

Two young men. Occar Gallier, of vehicle, were badly bruised when they were thrown out after the horse had gotten beyond their control at Nineteenth and Franklin Streets. Gallier was thrown out at Twentieth and Franklin and Procklington in Twenty-first Street, between Main and Cary. They limped to the First Police Station, where they were treated by Dr. O. C. Page, City Hospital ambulance surgeon. They were cut and bruised about the head and face.

Neither could say what had become of the horse or buggy. The animal was owned by Gallier, while the vehicle had been hired from R. A. Pruett, a liveryman, of 1809 East Franklin Street.
